"BRITAIN CAN MAKE IT"

EXHIBITION

Many of the streamlined products on show at the "Britain Can Make It" exhibition, now being held in London, are the ingenious outcome of "top secret" processes and materials perfected during the war. The following are a few of the exhibits on display:

(1) A "mural" radio, which appears to be a map of the world and forms part of the scheme of decoration of one wall of the living room. To get music from Paris, simply plug the bulb into

Paris; to get news from New York, move it across the Atlantic. (2)

Enamel saucepans that can be left simmering on the stove forever. The food will not burn, the enamel will never crack. (3) A three-in-one household step-ladder made of metal and wood. Add fixtures, and you have an efficient ironing board; substitute others, and you have a high chair for the baby. (4) Wool dresses as fine as silk, warm in winter and cool in summer. They will not crease or shrink.

(5) For air travel, a zip-fastened kit-bag made of embossed canvas impregnated with synthetic resin. It is color-fast, water-proof, rot-proof and mould-proof.

AT THE PEAK OF freshness — that's Maxwell

House Coffee in the Super-

Vacuum Tin. It comes to you with all its extra-rich flavor sealed in by the wonderful Vita-Fresh

Process.

SOUND SLEEP

One's outlook and quality of work depend largely upon the amount of sleep enjoyed, says the department of national health and welfare, in a short health bulletin. "When retiring," the department reminds parents, "be sure that air in rooms in which people have been smoking is cleared, so that children as well as adults may enjoy healthful sleep.

"The health authorities point out that nervousness, loss of weight and lack of reserve power are among the results of too little real deep rest."

"Yeah," said the college man, "when I first came here I was pretty concerned, but they knocked all that out of me and now I am one of the best fellows."

GETTING ON WITHOUT

RELIGION

(By Lewis Milligan)

A columnist in the British Weekly, who signs himself Ilco, writing under the title, "The Comforts of Atheism," says: "A practicing doctor in Harley Street told me the other day that most of his patients come from well-to-do families, that a few of them, mostly women, are addicted to Anglo-Catholicism, and that for the rest hardly any show the slightest interest in religion or are conscious of any need which religion might claim to satisfy.

Religion, it would seem, never crosses the threshold of thought." To which Ilco adds: "I find that staggering, for

I cannot imagine how people get on without religion."

The answer to that is that people don't get on without religion—even the avowed atheists. In my youth, was curious about atheism, and I used occasionally to attend meetings of the Secularist Society, at which lectures

Flowers For London

Blossoms From Selly Islands To Be Shipped For Winter Market

Acres on the Selly Islands devoted to vegetables during the war years will be blooming again with narcissi, daffodils, arum lilies, ranunculus, and other flowers for London's winter markets.

Under most favorable prewar conditions, says the National Geographic Society, these islands 25 miles off England's southwest corner shipped about 50,000 individual blossoms a year. Flowers bloom out of doors the year round at a latitude 650 miles north of New York City.

The warm Gulf Stream gives the islands a mild temperature ranging from 48 to 58 degrees, Fahrenheit. Starting plants outdoors in September and October, the islanders can supply the London market in December or early January by forcing blossoms under glass.

Because of gales, the tenderest flowers have to be protected by masses of purple-flowering veronica and tall hedges. The gales may send a salt spray to spot and blacken blossoms. They also may ruin crops by holding loaded ships in harbor until the flowers fade.

Scillonians who now number about 1,700, gradually turned florists some sixty years ago after a single hatbox filled with flowers was sent on a trial basis to the London market. Before that time the islanders had supported themselves by farming, fishing, and more precarious means. Only five of the 140 islets and granite reefs are inhabited.

FLAVOR IS BETTER

The agricultural department of the consumer section home economist says the best flavored sauce is made without peeling the apples, and besides it is a time saver. Wash apples, quarter them and discard any decayed portions. Cook until soft in a covered pan, adding just enough water to prevent burning, and press through a strainer. Sweeten as desired.

SALT FOR HOGS

Experimental Evidence Shows That It Is Valuable Item That salt is poisonous to hogs. All late experimental evidence shows that, properly included in the ration, it is a very valuable item. A note from the Drovers' Daily Journal is interesting in this connection.

"Last year at Swine Day, held annually at Purdue University, C. M. Vestal, in charge of hog feeding tests, reported that a penny's worth of salt saved 287 pounds of feed valued at $6.37. Hogs without salt gained only half as fast as those receiving it free-choice with their grain and supplement ration. During the 85-day test 51 pounds of extra gain was produced for each pound of salt consumed, $13 worth. The test was made with 90 lb. hogs.

"At this year's Swine Day Mr. Vestal reported on another test. He found that pigs receiving salt free-choice with their corn and supplement ration gained 75 per cent. faster than those without salt. The salted pigs had an average gain of 84 pounds, while the others gained only 48 pounds a head. For each pound of salt consumed there were 29 extra pounds of gain. This alone gave a pig a high value in the ration. Besides the extra gain there was a saving of $7.12 in the feed cost of 100 pounds of gain when salt was fed, as compared with no salt in the ration. This saving amounted to $4.75 for each pound of salt fed."

Preserved In Glacier

Body Of Lizardlike Animal Was Washed Ashore On Alaska Coast—ANCHORAGE, Alaska.—Discovery of the body of a long, lizardlike animal—tentatively identified as a prehistoric tyrannosaurus or gorgonopsian—has been reported by home-steaders at Anchor point on Kachmak bay in Cook inlet.

The find, believed to have been preserved in a glacier until washed out into the bay and then ashore, had head and forefeet virtually intact and measured 18 feet 10 inches from tip to tip, according to Anchorage residents who flew to the scene.

(The tyrannosaurus, a descendant of the gorgonopsian, stands 18 feet high and is some 38 feet long, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica. The gorgonopsian is somewhat smaller and roamed the Alberta, Canada, region in the middle cretaceous period, some 65 to 80 million years ago.)

The animal, which washed ashore with some of the flesh still intact, was said by witnesses to have a tail five feet five inches long and two feet six inches wide at its junction with the body. A head only two feet wide and three and a half feet long had a sharply pointed tooth row 18 inches long.

Make Good Students

Veterans Are Really Interested In Getting Ahead With Education

There was a time, in the twenties, when a young man, having nothing better to do, went to a university. That produced the type associated with the phrase, "Joe College." He was a connoisseur and paid little attention to his academic work. He was at the university for a lark.

He was a very different boy from the co-serviceman who is in attendance at the universities now. Canadian university heads describe the veterans as steady, interested in their studies, not given to useless frivolity, and very intent on making up for the time given to service in the forces.

According to a survey made by the department of veterans' affairs as of Aug. 31, 1946, about 40,000 veterans are in the universities—Globe and Mail.

THERE'S A REASON

James Nelson, editor of the Weekly Journal, Cuba, Ill., tells his subscribers his paper is not up to standard, and explains the reasons. Because of the help shortage, Nelson said, he must "set the ads, the news, the press, do job printing, wrap mail and deliver the papers and sleep a little every other night."

There are approximately 900 species of flowering plants, trees and ferns on the Hawaiian Islands.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

ABSENT-MINDED GEORGE

By M. J. COLLINS

Copyright
Wheeler Newspaper Syndicate

To say that old George was absent-minded was to put it mildly, he could forget or mislay more things in ten minutes than an ordinary man could in a week.

He operated the corner grocery store and the only reason he made money was because he had a wife with her head in the right place. "The most noticeable thing in the store was a large old-fashioned safe that sat solidly opposite the door. George had bought it for his store when he was about twenty years ago.

This morning one of his sister-in-law's children had met with an accident and George's wife had to go and help straighten out a very upset household.

"Now, don't go woolgathering!" she warned as she was leaving. "I haven't the slightest idea how long I'll be away but I'll phone and let you know how things are."

Business went on without a hitch and George was well pleased with himself, no muddling for him. Most of his business was on a credit system and this was the day his customers generally cleared up their accounts.

As closing time he had almost a thousand dollars to lock up. Just before he was ready to leave his wife phoned. The accident wasn't as serious as first supposed as the child was home for supper. A short time later George drove home.

While they dined George heard all the details. His wife was so much taken up with what had happened that she forgot to ask how things had gone at the store.

This was the man's night off and he helped with the dishes. "How much money did we take in today?" Did old man Palmy call for his account? She asked as he dried the last dish.

"Yes, yes he did. We took in almost a thousand dollars, and I put it away safely." He informed her with some pride.

"Are you positive of that, dear?" She asked partly. "Yes, locked tight and safe," he assured her. He put the dish towel on the rack behind the stove to dry.

"I'm going to look over the paper and then go to bed. Bertha, I had a busy day at the store." He stifled a yawn.

"Why not take it upstairs and read in bed?" She suggested. "It would be much more restful."

"I think I will. It sounds like a good idea."

"The paper is in the magazine rack. I'll be up in a few minutes. I think I'll bring my knitting."

George awakened with a start. He shook his head trying to get his thoughts straightened out. Evidently he'd drifted off to sleep while reading. The lights were out and the gentle sound of Bertha's breathing came from the other bed.

The dream! That's what had awakened him. Someone had broken into the store and stolen the safe. Taken it clean away. He chuckled, not much danger of that, it weighed 700 lbs. Stretching out his full length he relaxed and then rolled over on his side to go to sleep. The money! Now he remembered, when Bertha phoned he'd forgotten it and left it sitting on the counter in the cigar box. If he wasn't the added heaved... Throwing aside the covers, he sat on the side of the bed. No sense in awakening Bertha.

"What's the matter, dear?" She was already awake. "I heard you twisting and turning and I wondered if you were sick." She switched on the bed lamp.

"When you phoned I forgot to put the money away." He told her ruefully.

"George!" She exclaimed with exasperation. "Will you ever learn! What are you going to do now?"

"I'm going down to the store and put it away." While he dressed he told her about the dream. Bertha laughed when she heard of it.

"Don't worry," she assured him, "you'll find it there in the very safe spot."

In about half an hour he returned. "Everything all right, dear?" Bertha asked sleepily when she heard him.

"Yes, I did leave the money sitting on the counter but it's safely locked up now. Guess I'll never learn to remember anything," George grumbled as he rolled into bed.

Next morning they were at the store bright and early. "George, you didn't lock the door!" Bertha cried with vexation. "You go from bad to worse." Opening the door she walked in while George was still fumbling for his keys.

"I locked it, I'm positive." He expostulated, but he had only Bertha's angry back to talk to. When he closed the door he immediately had a premonition that there was something amiss. Looking at the end of the store he realized what it was, there was only an empty space where the safe had always stood.

"Oh, mighon, Bertha!" George jumped up and down with excitement, waving his arms and shouting. "It's gone, our safe, it's gone."

"Heavens to Betsy!" Bertha cried. "The police. I'll phone the police." And she rushed to the phone.

"What do you know," George shook his head incredulously, after all these years.

About two hours later the police found the safe in a ravine on a side-road about four miles from town. George drove out immediately to see what there was to be done. There was a constable on guard as well as a plain-clothes detective wearing a trench-coat. The safe door was blasted open and it was bare.

"Could you give us a list of the contents?" the detective requested. "I'll help us in our work."

"Last!" George looked sheepish. "Well, to tell the truth when I bought the safe twenty years ago I forgot the combination, and the old fellow that sold it to me moved away and I never did get around to getting it. We kept it just for show, after all. Always kept our money in a strong box under the counter."

Says Rheumatic Pain Runs in her Family

But Safeguards Health With Kruschen

Many people seem to think, because a complaint runs in the family, that there is little they can do about it. On the contrary, all the more reason for taking steps to avoid it. Especially if that complaint is rheumatism. Read how one woman keeps free from it.

"Rheumatic pain runs in my family. My father suffered very badly with it. I have been taking Kruschen Salt, off and on, for about seven years, a little morning dose, in my first cup of tea. Kruschen is a great help in keeping rheumatic pain out of my shoulders.

"I am a good housewife and very good. I am 67 and can do a day's work with anyone. I would not be without Kruschen."

(Mrs.) A.R.S. The whole secret of Kruschen is in its action upon the organs of elimination. Kruschen helps these organs to remove from the body the acid deposits which give rise to rheumatic pain. So try the morning dose of Kruschen for the next month or so. For rheumatic pain, take half a teaspoonful in hot water first thing in the morning. Two doses: 25c and 50c per dozen.

BUT IT WAS SOAP
Samuel Schofield of East Weymouth, Mass., ordered some Second Great War army surplus commodities—and reports he received 64 bars of soap made for use in the civil war. On the label of each piece was the slogan, "Save soap to win the war," and the stamped signature, "Commander-in-chief, Abraham Lincoln."

The national salute to the American flag consists of one shot for each star therein.

A patch of scarlet geraniums in a weedy-grown field—that is the only indication today that humans ever lived on the spot that once was Lillies.

The flowers survived fire, explosives and industrious leveling operations of Nazi workmen, who even changed the course of a brook to erase all traces of Lillies. But the geraniums, left in a trampled garden when the woman who had tended them was shoved into a truck for the journey to Ravensbrück concentration camp, have thrived in the midst of desolation.

FIRE ON THE MOUNTAIN

Sparks streaked skywards from a roaring fire on the heights of Caux above Lake Geneva. Scores of other beacons glowed from other mountain peaks. Switzerland was celebrating 654 years of uninterrupted freedom.

Six and a half centuries of freedom—and inward peace! Why could not the flame of that idea spread across Europe—across the world? Political freedom, perhaps, is not enough. Free nations still make many selfish demands upon each other. Peace cannot be made that way. The nation which would spread world peace must first give the world a new type of being, the man who is free from demand.

This perception kindled a new fire in the hearts of hundreds who gathered at Caux. It led them to take over Mountain House and equip it for the task of welding a world family capable of rearing this new type of being.

Many sold their own homes—gave everything they owned—to acquire the property. Hundreds worked for weeks, sometimes starting at 4 a.m. and working till midnight, to clear up the debris left by war refugees who had occupied the hotel. In terms of cash the cost of this new home for freedom was no greater than the cost of a bombing plane. But in terms of sacrifice, the cost was total giving of heart and mind and body. It was the giving over of every private hope and plan. The free kindliness at Caux thus showed the way to the freedom from demand which they sought for the world statement. "There's some reason for the success of this, particular gathering of people from all over the world—something that keeps them together," said a British statesman at Caux. "The same thing can keep the world together and bring us peace."

He: "Darling, I could sit here and do nothing but look at you forever." She (disappointed): "Yeah, that's what I'm beginning to think."

Butter the size of a pea added to the starch will make ironing smoother and easier. Lard or paraffin will answer just as well.

One tablespoon of cold water added to eggs when frying will partly steam the eggs and give them a more pleasing appearance.

Pour hot water on the prunes then let them cook slowly. In this way only one tablespoon of sugar is required to sweeten them. Prunes contain natural sugar which is not released if prunes are cooked too quickly.

Industrial health authorities in the department of national health and welfare, Ottawa, brand smoke as a health menace as well as a sign of faulty fuel consumption. For a minimum of smoke, they recommend to users of fuel-burning equipment these guides: use a fuel suited to your type of equipment, keep that equipment in good condition, fire carefully, and use automatic fuel-burning equipment where-ever possible.

Every FATHER

...should answer these questions:

"How much are my savings really worth?" The cash value of your savings is not what counts most. What is important is the amount of continuous income they would provide, if your wife and children were left without other means of support. In most cases ordinary savings can't provide enough! That is why you need life insurance.

"Is it important WHICH life insurance company I choose?" It is! Life insurance companies are much alike as to policies and rates, but actual long-term results vary widely. We invite you to compare The Mutual Life of Canada's record with that of any other company. Evidence of the satisfaction of our policyholders is furnished by the fact that whole families and succeeding generations have entrusted their life insurance programs exclusively to The Mutual Life of Canada, and each year approximately 35% of its new business comes from policyholders. Ask your Mutual Life representative to explain the special features of this Company.

8 Perspicacious People

* According to Webster, this five-dollar word means clear-sighted—of acute mental vision or discernment... which pretty well describes the "right use of ten" who plan to invest in Canada Savings Bonds.

IN RECENT ADVERTISEMENTS we have been suggesting that the way to save money is to have a plan and stick to it.

Now comes this Dominion Government savings plan, ready-made for your needs. It enables you to add to your present holdings of Victory Bonds by the same tried-and-true method you used during the war; paying for your purchase in cash, if you like; but better still by convenient instalments, as you earn.

You found out for yourself, with every Victory Bond you bought, that this is a savings system that works... convincing proof that you can "save some for yourself."

Simply call at your Royal Bank branch, sign an application for one or more bonds, to be paid for by convenient instalments spread over a year if you wish. Keep up the war-time saving habit. Invest in Canada Savings Bonds.

CANADA SAVINGS BONDS

- Are as good as cash—backed by the Government of Canada...
- Can be bought for cash, or by instalments out of income, at any branch of this bank...
- Can be bought by salary deductions at your place of employment...
- Can be sold at any chartered bank any time, for what you paid for them, plus earned interest...
- Are available in four denominations: $50, $100, $500 and $1,000.
- Are registered—each bond you buy is registered in your name at Ottawa.

Fast Freight!

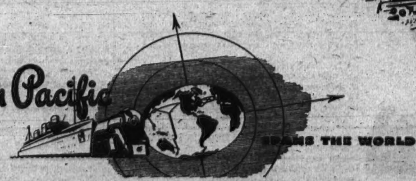

You've heard those thundering wheels... seen that stabbing headlight... as you've watched a long train of Canadian Pacific freight cars rumble through the night.

They are hauling more—much more—than just overnight freight. To children and grown-ups in destitute Europe and Asia, those turning wheels are bringing new hope... perhaps life itself.

To all of us they are bringing food, coal, building materials, household furnishings, lumber, paper, machinery—all the thousand-and-one items which make up a nation's domestic and export trade. And they are doing it efficiently and cheaply... every day and night in the year!

Mr. Smith and the Legion...

The Legion is composed of Canada's best citizens. It exists to serve ALL Canadians.

Young Mr. Smith is going back to school. Young, only 27, yet pretty old for high school. It's going to take courage. But Mr. Smith proved his courage when he was Private Smith, a Bren-gunner. Young Mr. Smith is going to amount to something.

Behind him stand his Legion comrades. Proud of him and determined to see that he has every chance.

THE LEGION NEEDS YOU!

THREE KINDS OF PEOPLE

It is easy to generalize and say, "There are just two kinds of people in the world." The optimists, with rose-colored glasses, who say, "Everything will work out all right. It always has." And the pessimists, with dark brown taste, who say, "Everything is working out all wrong."

If there are only two kinds of people, the optimists will soon find their rose glasses smashed. They will find that everything has not always worked out all right. They will find at least seven former civilizations that did not work out, that went out instead, and that are now entirely extinct. They will find the present age speeding rapidly on its way to becoming the eighth, extinct civilization. And that the pessimists are right in thinking everything is working out all wrong.

There is fortunately a third kind of person; neither those who think everything is all right or all wrong, but who think everything can and should be all different and are giving everything they have and are to make it.

It is. As described by Peter Howard in his book, "Ideas Have Legs," they introduce "into every equation of hopelessness the new element of change."

The fate of the world hangs on the success of this third kind of people. The fate of your town, of your business and of your street and home. Are you yourself one of these people? Or are you what Peter Howard calls "one of the Missing and Misty Millions?" These are the people, he says, who say "that the world is in a mess, but do not believe that they had anything to do with putting it there, and cannot see that they have a part in pulling it out again. They all want to have the other fellow changed and are all waiting for the other fellow to begin."

If you hated your sins the way you hate some people, you would have a lot less to do with them. And a lot more to do with people.

Scientifically we have progressed to split the atom. Now we must progress spiritually far enough to handle it.

MODERATION

promises a glorious future

Because we are a moderate people, Canada has come through the war with perhaps the least dislocation of any nation actively involved. That is a remarkable tribute both to the overall policies of our Government and to the fundamental wisdom of the Canadian people.

And it holds out a glorious promise for the future.

But to make that promise come true in the days ahead we shall have to continue to live up to our principles of moderation. We shall have to continue to think, act and live—moderately.

To give in to the natural desire for immediate enjoyment of everything and anything presently in short supply can result only in inflation and disaster.

This is not our way.

The House of Seagram suggests that each day's enjoyment be moderate so that the rich promise of Canada's tomorrow can be fulfilled . . . to the full.

THE HOUSE OF SEAGRAM

A Growing Nation

DURING THE WAR MUCH WAS HEARD of Canada's growing status among the other nations of the world. The great amount of energy and ability which was put into the war effort was responsible, in part at least, for this rapid rise to a foremost place in world affairs, for it was recognized that Canada's contribution to the Allied cause in both men and resources was far in excess of what might have been expected of a nation with such a relatively small population. The same qualities which made possible this outstanding achievement still exist in Canada today and it is the responsibility of the people to see that the country continues to progress in peace, as it did during the war.

A Distinctive Canadian Type

The subject of Canada's growing importance as a nation has been referred to by the Right Hon. Vincent Massey, C.H., P.C., who has recently returned from London, after serving for some years, including the duration of the war, as Canadian High Commissioner to Great Britain. Mr. Massey has told of the increase of Canada's prestige in Britain, and of the admiration felt there for Canada and the Canadian people. Much of this has been attributed to the contribution made by this country to the winning of the war, but Mr. Massey has also expressed the opinion that out of the war has come a distinctive Canadian type, an increasing awareness of Canadian nationhood, and a developing unity which he said could be termed "an intricate domestic pattern in a complicated country."

Faith Alone Is Not Sufficient

Mr. Massey has also told the Canadian people that he has great faith in the future of this country, but he has warned that faith alone is not sufficient to solve our difficulties "although they will not be solved without it." It is timely that we should be reminded of the need to look to the future and to continue to work for the development of the country both through faith and through action. At present we are faced with a number of difficult problems including labour unrest, housing, immigration and others. Many of the situations which have arisen were not anticipated during the war, and Canada today is not as most of her people hoped it would be in the second year of peace. We have, however, much to show if we do not unite and solve the problems of peace as we did those of the war, and look forward at all times to developing to the utmost the great possibilities of the country in which we live.

Still A Mystery

British Research Workers Have Studied Grass Disease For 50 Years

British veterinarians are about to try again to solve the mysteries of "grass disease" which has baffled research workers for almost 50 years. The disease, which appeared in Scotland just after the South African War, is quickly fatal in most cases. Incidence is highest among young animals and those which recover are of little working value.

For 40 years the malady has been taking its toll in Scotland and in recent years it spread to Northern England and even the Midlands. Professor William C. Miller, first director of the new Equine Research Station established by the Veterinary Educational Trust at Newmarket, is making a study of "grass disease" one of his first projects and has asked for expert help.

EFFECT DOUBLE CURE

British Physicians Transfer Glands And Reversal Addison's Disease
LONDON.—A delicate gland-grafting operation apparently has cured a 33-year-old woman of dread Addison's disease and simultaneously brought health to another woman from whom the grafted gland was taken, the authoritative British Medical Journal reported.

The first patient suffered from inadequate supply of secretion from the suprarenal gland and had been kept alive by large salt dosages. Physicians found another woman, 21, suffering from an over-active suprarenal gland. The over-active gland in less than an hour was grafted successfully to the blood vessels of the other's abdominal wall.

Three weeks later the victim of Addison's disease left the hospital and had only one brief bit of trouble during the early period of convalescence. Now, 1½ years later, she is apparently cured. The patient from which the gland was removed also made a "good recovery."

Addison's disease is a chronic ailment, usually fatal, caused by insufficient secretion of adrenalin from the suprarenal gland. Its symptoms include anemia.

SMILE AWHILE

One of the guests turned to a man by his side to criticize the singing of a woman who was trying to entertain them.

"What a terrible voice! Do you know who she is?"

"Yes," was the answer. "She's my wife."

"Oh, I beg your pardon. Of course, it isn't her voice, really. It's the stuff she has to sing. I wonder who wrote that awful song?"

"I did," was the answer.

Mrs. Dumbly was waiting to be served in the boot shop. Presently a girl assistant approached her.

"What else do you wear, madam?" she inquired.

"Well," said Mrs. Dumbly, "I bought these four last time."

"The girl looked puzzled."

"Yes, madam, I remember," she replied; "but you're buying this pair for yourself, aren't you?"

She looked at him a moment and then reached for her handbag. "How much do you need?" she inquired.

The new Land Girl was doing her best, but she was evidently finding everything on the farm very strange.

Having had an incubator explained to her, and been asked if she fully understood it, she put her head on one side and, with a puzzled look, replied:

But Canadian Bacon For British Market Should Be Identified

There is no reason why Canada cannot compete successfully with Denmark in the British bacon market, Agriculture Minister D. L. Campbell of Manitoba told the Manitoba Swine Breeders' association.

Reporting on a visit to Britain, Mr. Campbell said Canadian bacon lacked proper identification and consequently a lot of British people thought an improvement in quality was needed. However, United Kingdom experts were "very satisfied" with the high standards maintained during the war.

The minister urged steps be taken to identify Canada's bacon exports and to distinguish it from inferior brands of other countries.

Empire And U.S. To Standardize Weapons Of War

LONDON.—Authoritative British military informants said that British Empire and American political and military chiefs have agreed in principle to standardize land, air and naval weapons and munitions to include United States sizes and patterns.

Informants said the issue of weapon standardization first was broached by Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada during the conference here last April of Commonwealth prime ministers.

Mr. King, these sources said, told the conference that Canada was convinced her territorial integrity and future security were inseparably linked with those of the United States and that defence strategy had to take into account the technical, productive and scientific resources of the United States.

Prime Minister Chifley of Australia and Walter Nash, New Zealand deputy prime minister, expressed similar views concerning their countries.

The military informants said A. V. Alexander, defence minister-designate, would give the standardization decision practical effect as soon as he takes office.

Asked whether such an agreement implied the conclusion of a formal military alliance between Britain and the United States, an army source said: "No, but it does mean a deliberate decision from the British side to settle any disputes that might arise in the future by discussion."

The source said Britain and the United States were continuing to exchange information on military weapon development—more than a year after the end of the war—adding: "I don't believe there is a single military secret between ourselves and the Americans."

In practice, it was said, the arrangement will mean that Britain will be able to order most of her military requirements from the United States with considerable less trouble than in the last war.

The informants suggested it would take a minimum of 10 years to complete the British conversion.

GOOD NEWS

Taxpayers To Get Returns From Compulsory Savings Plan

OTTAWA.—Canadian income taxpayers are due to get $50,000,000 back shortly, but it was paid so long ago that probably a lot of them have forgotten about it.

In 1942 the government introduced a compulsory savings plan as part of the income tax set-up. The plan continued until mid-1944. Altogether individual income taxpayers were compelled to lend the government about $260,000,000 and $50,000,000 was for the 1942 assessment.

They are scheduled to get that 1942 assessment back by March 31, 1948, with two percent interest. Their compulsory savings in the 1943 assessment—which amounted to about $115,000,000 will be repayable a year later and the 1944 assessment, which was for only half a year—$95,000,000—a year after that.

The plan was introduced by the government to bolster the lending scheme, necessary to finance the heavy war expenditures, and to drain off excess income which would have had an inflationary tendency during the war.

The actual amount which individuals get will vary greatly. The compulsory savings plan requiring taxpayers to set aside varying percentages of their tax in savings.

A single person with no dependents earning $56 a month, for instance, was required to save 24 cents a month, while a person in the same category earning $400 a month had to save $28.80. A married man with two dependents in the $100 a month class had to save $1.08 and if he earned $400 a month had to save $32.40.

Actually the compulsory earnings did not run as high as that because the taxpayer was allowed to offset against them such normal savings as life insurance, payments on a mortgage, annuities or principal payments on a mortgage, so the figures set down on tables were sharply reduced, and in many cases wiped out altogether.

The roar of the Igassut falls of Brazil can be heard 15 miles away.

SUGAR BEETS

Premium Offered To Induce Quick Harvest

LETHBRIDGE, Alta.—A premium of 75 cents per ton for sugar beets was offered farmers in this area as an inducement to quickly harvest the estimated 90,000 tons of sugar beets still in the ground.

This tonnage, having an estimated value to growers of $1,200,000 and representing 25,000,000 pounds of sugar to the Dominion, was hurried by up to two feet of snow in the storm at the end of last week that completely stopped harvesting.

Sugar factory operators at nearby Raymond and Picture Butte, said the premium will be paid on all beets dug and delivered from now until conditions for digging become normal again.

British Delegate Optimistic For Future Of U.N.

NEW YORK.—"The United Nations' chances of success are greater than those of the old League of Nations were at any time," says Air Secretary Philip Noel-Baker, leader of the British delegation to the UN assembly here.

Mr. Noel-Baker was in at the birth of the League of Nations and followed it through to its failure. He was chief of the British delegation to the Geneva-based pre-war body.

To those who are skeptical of the United Nations' future, the veteran British diplomat has this to say: "None of the big powers, such as Britain and France, were really behind the league. They didn't think it would work from the very beginning."

"Another thing, the United States was in the league, although it had been proposed by President Wilson. Russia was absent, too."

In comparison, Mr. Noel-Baker has this to say in favor of the United Nations:

"The first United Nations assembly in London, in all technical ways, not only started where the League of Nations left off, but it was better."

"And remember this: President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee, Secretary of State Byrnes and Foreign Minister Molotov speak with far more authority than anyone could speak in the early days of the league."

"The Russians have shown that they are loyal to the United Nations. They have declared time and again that they are behind the United Nations."

The British diplomat warned, however, against jumping to the conclusion that differences and arguments will not arise in the United Nations.

AIR MAIL RATES

Postage From Canada To Almost Every Country Is Cut

OTTAWA.—Postage on air mail from Canada to countries in almost every part of the world is reduced. Postmaster General Bertrand said the reduction was made possible by adoption of a new weight unit by one-quarter-of-an-ounce, to replace the former half-ounce unit.

A quarter-ounce air mail letter from Canada to the United Kingdom or Europe will require 15 cents postage compared to the 30-cent, half-ounce charge now in force.

Rates on air mail within Canada or to Newfoundland remain at seven cents for the first ounce and five cents for each additional ounce. Letters to the United States will cost seven cents for the first ounce and five cents—instead of six cents—for each additional ounce.

Other quarter-ounce rates: Bermuda, West Indies, British Guiana, Mexico, Cuba and Central and South America—10 cents; Hawaii—15 cents; Guam, Philippines, China—25 cents; Africa—30 cents.

Mr. Bertrand said the new regulations do not affect the "Canada air letter", a form combining envelope and paper.

Winston Churchill Blames League Of Nations For Allowing Germany To Rearm

LONDON.—Winston Churchill was made a Freeman of the Borough of Beckenham in recognition of his leadership during a war which, he said, need never have been fought.

"There was no need whatever for Germany to have been allowed to rearm," British's wartime prime minister said in a brief acceptance speech, blaming "inactivity, weakness, putting off until tomorrow what ought to be settled today" for the league of nations' failure to forestall Hitler.

What the victorious powers will do with their victory, Mr. Churchill said, "is one of those mysteries of the future that I shall not attempt to plumb."

Development of the most ambitious irrigation program ever undertaken in Canada is gaining momentum in southern Alberta after construction work on the $6,000,000 St. Mary river dam south of Lethbridge was inaugurated by Rt. LONDON.—Prime Minister Attlee denied in the house of commons that Britain had agreed to recognize Egyptian rule over the strategic Sudan. He said recent conversations on the matter were "conducted on the understanding that they did not commit" either Egypt or Britain.

Plans Fight Against Threat Of Inflation

OTTAWA.—Donald Gordon, plain-spoken prices board chief, has decided to step back into the public relations picture and give the Dominion a series of pep-talks to combat what the board considers the worst inflation threat since early in the war.

In a series of five-nation broadcasts which will constitute the most concentrated amount of public "selling" he has undertaken since the campaign for institution of price stabilization in 1941-42, Mr. Gordon will discuss price control generally, food, clothing and rent, and the contentious subsidy question.

Representations and inquiries to the board show that concern and uncertainty about the future of control in the Dominion are greater even than early in the war when critics were first imposed. Officials lay the reason for this anxiety to three main factors, which have developed threatening proportions in recent months:

1. The "decontrol" program in the United States, where prices on some commodities have soared since ceilings were removed.

2. Representations by countless groups which have urged removal of controls immediately affecting themselves but at the same time protested against removal of related controls which would affect them adversely in other ways.

3. Concern by the general public over the lifting of basic controls like rent, food and clothing, and consequent misleading rumors and speculation.

Mr. Gordon's talks will embrace not only an explanation of the present situation, but also a statement of administration but also are expected to provide a definite picture of the government's future plans for decontrol.

The U.S. decontrol program in particular has Canadians worried because Canada's economy is inevitably bound to that of her southern neighbor. Increased prices due to lifting of O.P.A. regulations mean, in many cases that Canada will have to increase subsidies on needed imports if the price of such goods is to be kept at basic levels.

Main commodities falling under this category are cotton, coal and manufactured articles of various kinds.

WILL BE REMOVED

Subsidy On Wheat To Be Lifted At Earliest Possible Date

CALGARY.—Federal Agriculture Minister Gardiner said the 30-cent a bushel subsidy on wheat paid by farmers to Canadian flour mills will be removed "at the earliest possible date."

In a telephone interview with the Calgary Albertan Mr. Gardiner, now at Ottawa, confirmed a statement made by the Alberta Farmers' union that the subsidy will be removed shortly. He said "no specific date was indicated."

The Canadian wheat board, which handles all wheat grown in Canada, sells it to Britain for $3.55 a bushel and to Canadian flour millers for $1.25 a bushel.

Farm organizations have contended if a subsidy is to be paid to provide Canadians with cheap bread all classes and taxpayers should contribute equally.

About 50,000,000 bushels of wheat is consumed by Canadians annually. Removal of the 30-cent subsidy paid by the producers would mean an extra $15,000,000 annually to western Canadian wheat farmers.

NO DECISION YET

Prices Board Not Sure Whether Butter Ration Will Be Cut

OTTAWA.—Prices board officials are giving increasing attention to the question of a plan for Canada's butter ration this winter, but have so far come to no conclusion, and the prospects are there will be no change in the present six-ounce ration at least during November.

One prices board official said that it was "touch-and-go" whether the Dominion would have to cut back on the ration. He said it was expected a decision would not be made for a fortnight.

One question being closely studied by officials, but on which no definite figures are yet available, is the amount milk consumption by the general public has been cut by the removal of subsidies on whole milk. Removal of producer and consumer subsidies in June and September has resulted in a five-cent increase to consumers in most provinces, but so far as has been learned up to date, this has not greatly decreased consumption.

NEW RECORD AVERAGE FOR HEREFORD CATTLE

CALGARY.—Setting a new record for cattle sales in Canada 48 registered Herefords from the Hite Coules ranch, near Staveley, were sold for $35,125, an average of $731 each.

Top price was paid by Henry Yeager of Oregon for Royal Britisher, only son of the $15,000 Hereford bull, Duchess Royal Domino. 2697

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

Beauty hints by experts are almost invariably health hints, too, says an Ottawa statement from the department of national health and welfare. For beauty, such matters as exercise, cleanliness, correct posture, adequate sleep and care of the person are recommended. All these are essential, too, to physical fitness. The department suggests to the ladies that they keep fit, and thereby beautiful, by getting out as much as possible, and observing the other health rules.
